

1 Humans: diverse yet consistent

Irritable
Prone to anger

Conscientious
Careful, reliable

Calculating
Strategic, shrewd

Empathetic
Kind, prosocial

Consistent choices across situations

1. Calm, careful task

Irritable people struggle with patience and careful steps.

2. Rules visible

Calculating people are more likely to exploit or bend the rules.

3. Help opportunity

Empathetic people tend to choose prosocially.

Different human personalities lead to different but stable behavioral patterns.

2 Current LLMs: aligned and moderate

Safety, legal, and social-value alignment may compress many models toward a moderate, similar profile.

3 Our question: personality conflict?

A model may appear well-behaved overall, yet its implied personality traits can conflict with each other.

Research question: Are LLM personality tendencies internally coherent, or do they contain alignment-induced conflicts?